Describing the law as a vehicle for people to achieve an important result in their lives, Wisselman Harounian & Associates Senior Partner Jerome A. Wisselman has been guiding his clients through major turning points.

“The attorney helps navigate the journey to attain this goal successfully while leaving no stone unturned to arrive there safely and to protect the client in every respect at the same time,” he said.

Wisselman founded Wisselman Harounian & Associates, P.C., a matrimonial and family law firm in 1976. The Great Neck firm has steadily grown in size and capacity, currently housing a team of 10 attorneys who provide legal counsel in all areas of litigation, with particular concentration in matrimonial and family law and related matters of real estate, wills, trusts and probate, estate planning and business law.

Balancing the desire to help his clients at a reasonable cost with the ever-increasing demands of the court system has been the biggest challenge he has faced in his career, Wisselman said.

“Over time, we’ve had to adapt to the evolving court rules and regulations, increased requirements and often time-consuming conferences, while still providing our best resources to assist clients during an often emotional and sensitive time,” he said.

Wisselman’s continued effort to contribute to the development of the legal profession and local community distinguishes him as a leader in his field. He is vice chairman of the Family Court law and procedure committee for the Nassau County Bar Association. He is also on the board of editors of the Law Journal Newsletter, New York Family Law Monthly. He is a volunteer on the legal advisory committee for David Goldman’s Bring Sean Home Foundation, a nonprofit organization that assists parents whose children were abducted by their spouse or other family members.

He has also been sponsoring a complimentary annual legal workshop program for mental health and medical professionals. He and his firm also offer a series of free legal information clinics to assist specific segments of the community.

Wisselman has received industry-wide recognition for his achievements in the field of law. He has twice been named a New York Metro Super Lawyer. He was also named a Top New York Lawyer by Arrive magazine and was nominated as Best Divorce Attorney in the Long Island Press’ Best of Long Island.

He earned a Juris Doctor from Brooklyn Law School and a bachelor’s degree from Queens College. He attended the Master of Laws program in taxation at New York University School of Law.
